County Will Still Retain Its Beauty

By JIM STANTON
Courier-Times Staff Writer

Bucks County can have 2 1/2 million persons living in it and still retain all the natural beauties—mountains, forests, streams and wildlife—that it has now. There will be enough park and recreational facilities to be enjoyed by everyone provided that the land is utilized according to an orderly pattern. This is what the Bucks County Planning Commission will try to accomplish through its Comprehensive Plan. The plan was made public Thursday night.

Ultimate Plan

The commission in its comprehensive study has developed an Ultimate Plan which indicates how Bucks County could develop in the distant future according to the planning principles employed.

The commission has dared go so far as to estimate a population figure for Bucks in the year 2010—860,000 people. But the Ultimate Plan could support three times that many people so no date is attached to this plan. This will be for some future commission to estimate.

For practical purposes an Intermediate Plan based on the year 1980 was provided as a more practical tool for local action.

Projections indicate that there will be between 442,000 and 671,000 persons living in the county then with 558,000 considered the probable estimate.

The population of Bucks County in the year 1980 is envisioned as living, for the most part, around some 10 core areas spread throughout the county except for the northern part where the county is rugged and suitable for park and conservation purposes.

Core Areas

These core areas already have their beginning in the major boroughs in the county, such as Bristol, Doylestown, Quakertown, Perkasie-Sellersville, and New Hope.

Others will appear in Lower Bucks County at Feasterville, at Hulmeville and Street Road in Bensalem Township, at Emilie Road and the Levittown Parkway in Bristol Township, and in Dublin and Warrington in the upper part of the county.

These cores will serve as the nuclei of the suburban satellite cities which will accommodate about a quarter of a million people.

Drastic Changes

During the 1960s, and especially the 1970s, drastic changes will take place in the county's population pattern. The presently large pre-school and elementary school age population will move into secondary schools, and towards the later years seek admission to colleges and employment opportunities in business, industry and government.

Facilities to fulfill the need for retaining this segment of the population must be constructed within the county. The suburban city would fulfill this need.

Otherwise, a high percentage of the population in the school age group and a low percentage in the labor force would cause taxes to remain concentrated on a relatively small proportion of the people.

The comprehensive plan expects few cores to support full regional shopping centers by 1980 but advises that consideration be given to the continual expansion of smaller centers after 1980.

Industry In 1980

The Planning Commission has not attempted to give estimates predicting the number and types of industry that will be situated in Bucks in 1980. This is mainly due to the whims of the state highway planners upon whose programs industrial park developments depend.

Most of the park facilities will be located in the rural greenbelts in 1980. Suburban and urban parks will be primarily of municipal concern or, as in portions of the Mill Creek Valley, which courses through Levittown, can be developed cooperatively by county and local agencies.

In 1980, state parks will be situated in Lower Bucks, along the Neshaminy Creek and at its mouth where a marina will be located.

A large reservoir will be built on the Tohickon (Continued on Page 3, Col. 7)

Argentina Government Tottering

BUENOS AIRES (UPI) — President Jose M. Guido's provisional government appeared to be tottering today despite assurances of military support. Jose M. Raggio, who returned here from the United States to become Guido's communications secretary, decided on his arrival that he didn't want the job. There also were persistent reports that such key government figures as Foreign Minister Bonifacio del Carril, Interior Minister Jorge W. Perkins, Navy Secretary Gaston Clement and Education Minister Miguel Sussini Jr. (Continued on Page 3, Col. 4)

Good Evening!

Mother's Day tomorrow.

It will be HER day as usual, never fear. Otherwise, the old man and the kids would be in big trouble.

Primary election day next Tuesday.

Our guess is that the vote will be an all-time record low. No contests of consequence among either Republicans or Democrats and considering the tidal wave of faldral with which GOPers have been swamped for the past couple of months we'd be almost tempted, at the risk of being branded a cynic, to recommend they exercise their right of NOT voting.

New payola scandal bared at Philadelphia's City Hall as two street department officials are fired and a third, recently resigned, is being investigated.

Let's see now. Isn't it the former chief of the city, responsible for "honest" government, who is now asking Pennsylvania people to make him their next governor?

Commie advances in Laos send President Kennedy and his advisors into an emergency huddle today and the possibility of sending U.S. combat troops to the little Southeast Asian country is even being considered.

We think you can mark off Laos to the free world through the muddling, indecision and ineptness of both the Eisenhower and Kennedy administrations.

Anyhow, our lovely Phillies rarely sitting prettier.

You see how they licked the Chicago Cubs last night 12-2 to win seven out of their last nine games and tie with the Pittsburgh Pirates for fourth place? Remember, all the time we've been preaching patience.

And Arnold Palmer slips a bit in the Colonial National at Fort Worth to let Gary Player lead by one stroke at the end of the second round.

This means the Pennsylvania lad is merely getting into position for another of those spectacular finishes.

The young man looked at the high prices on the night club menu, turned to his date and asked: "What will you have, my plump little doll?"

When children ask awkward questions, invention is the necessity of mother.

If you're driving during the weekend, be careful. Please? Okay.

Go to church tomorrow.

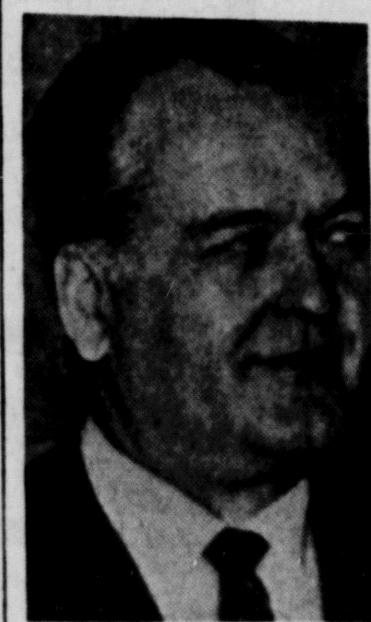

A Big Day Tomorrow

Whatever the weather on Mother's Day tomorrow, Mrs. William Dougherty of 1106 Clovernook Ave., Cornwells Heights, will get a shower of presents from her husband and 10 children. Here, the family consisting of (from lower left, clockwise) Terry, 6;

Goldberg Aide Quits, Took Estes Gift

JERRY R. HOLLEMAN

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Assistant Labor Secretary Jerry R. Holleman, who could not live on his $20,000 a year salary, resigned Friday night because he had accepted Texas financier Billie Sol Estes' offer to "help me out."

Holleman said Estes gave him a "personal gift" of $1,000 last January when he complained at lunch that he was unable to "meet the demands I think my office places on me with my salary."

He said in a statement that he took the money to pay for personal expenses, including a "number of social evenings" in his home for "his staff, associates and so forth."

He said he never did Estes any official favors in return. A Labor Department spokesman said an investigation had so far supported Holleman's contention.

Holleman returned repeatedly in his statement to the "personal living expenses which I have (Continued on Page 3, Col. 4)

Chairmanship Fights Committee Races Loom Big In Voting

Between 50,000 and 60,000 voters are expected to cast their ballots in Tuesday's Primary Election in which two party chairmen crowns hang in the balance.

Republican County Chairman Frederick E. Ziegler's leadership is being challenged by the insurgent Republican Alliance, headed by District Attorney Paul R. Beckert, for control of the regular organization.

On the Democrat side, Chairman John C. Mulligan is opposed by former county chairman John T. Welsh, one-time county commissioner for control of the organization.

Committee Posts Although none of the names of these combatants will appear on Tuesday's ballot, the names of many of their adherents are, and how they fare should indicate who eventually will be in control.

Factions in both parties, have entered committee candidates in the crucial local contests Tuesday. The winners of these local contests will decide who will be their chieftain when each party elects a chairman next month. The local polling places will be open from 8 a.m. to 9 p.m. There are 74,460 registered Republican voters in Bucks County while Democrat voters number 60,486.

Republican Assemblyman Alan D. Williams, 1st District incumbent, an ally of Beckert's, will try to win a primary without the organization's endorsement.

He is opposed by William O. Kline, Doylestown businessman, who has the support of the organization.

Mrs. Margaret S. Kooker, four terms in the General Assembly, is expected to retain the other seat in the 1st District because she has the endorsement of both the organization and the Alliance.

U.S. May Dispatch Troops

VIENTIANE, Laos (UPI) — The royal Laotian capitals of Vientiane and Luang Prabang were threatened today by a Communist-led rebel offensive that overran the government's last defenses in northwestern Laos and sent Laotian troops fleeing to safety in Thailand.

The northwest Laotian town of Ban Houei Sai was abandoned by defending government troops before nightfall Friday after a brief skirmish with attacking rebel forces, U.S. military sources reported.

The Laotian defense ministry had confirmed that its troops were pulling out of the town, but this was the first confirmation by U.S. military sources here that it had fallen completely into enemy hands.

In Washington, the State Department said the administration was considering "more forceful" action, possibly the dispatch of U.S. troops to Laos, to bolster the sagging royal army's defense of the jungle kingdom.

China Promises Support Chinese Communist Premier Chou En-lai, promising "resolute support" to the Laotian rebels, warned the United States to halt its activities in Southeast Asia.

Panicky government troops were reported retreating south from Houei Sai or swarming across the Mekong River into Thailand.

In Bangkok, Thai Interior Minister Gen. Prapas Charusatien said Friday that about 500 Laotian soldiers and 1,000 civilians fled into Thailand. He said royal Laotian soldiers were being disarmed and kept in a restricted area, while civilians were screened to determine whether they are refugees or pro-Communist agents.

The abandonment of Houei Sai, which is 115 miles west of the royal capital of Luang Prabang, virtually gives the pro-Communist forces complete control over all of the northwestern half of the kingdom.

A defense ministry communique said, "it is feared an offensive will be launched simultaneously against" Luang Prabang, home of the king, and the administrative capital of Vientiane, seat of the government.

The pledge of support from Red China came in a message from Chou to "neutralist" premier-designate Prince Souvanna Phouma. Chou said the continued strengthening of Sino-Laotian friendly relations contributed to the safeguarding of peace in Indo-China and Asia.

Man Injured As Car Flips

John Huff, 34, of 23 Rainbow Lane, Red Cedar Hill, Levittown, is in Lower Bucks County Hospital this morning where he is under observation for a possible concussion after his car overturned on Trenton Road, Falls Township, shortly after midnight.

Falls Township Officers Charles Beck and Wallace McCamish said that Huff struck a parked car owned by Joseph W. Edgell of 160 Trenton Road, which was parked in front of the residence, drove onto Edgell's lawn, rolled off the lawn and hit another car owned by Richard Moore of 151 Trenton Road, which was also parked.

After colliding with the second car, Huff's auto flipped over and landed on its roof, police report. Huff was charged with reckless driving and will be questioned later.

He was taken to the hospital by the Levittown-Fairless Hills Rescue Squad.

The power of the Democratic organization hinges on two state committee contests. Philip J. Waters of Bristol and Mrs. Eva H. Derr of Haycock Township, who have the backing of Mulligan's organization, will be tested by Joseph L. Haar of Quakertown and Mrs. Josephine A. Morris of Bensalem Township in the races for committeeman and committeewoman respectively.

Bucks Has Room For Two Million

Creek in Upper Bucks to meet future water needs. A series of smaller upstream facilities are slated for the Neshaminy.

By 1980 it is expected that there will be a dozen county parks in use covering some 9,500 acres.

The portions of the Ultimate Plan designated for construction by 1980 are based primarily upon the long range plans of the state Department of Highways.

Expressway System

In 1980, the expressway system in the county connecting the large urban centers will consist of the Pennsylvania Turnpike, its Northeast Extension, the Delaware Expressway, and possibly, the Tacony Expressway.

The Planning Commission has proposed that River Road and U.S. Route 611 north of Harrow remain as scenic parkways.

No new rail line facilities are proposed for Bucks County but plans are under way to improve or replace facilities along existing rail lines by 1980. Of prime importance is improvement of service on the Pennsylvania and Reading lines through the Southeastern Pennsylvania Transportation Compact.

The Comprehensive Plan sees the need for air facilities for Lower Bucks and recommends for study, sites at Warner Lakes and in the area north and east of Langhorne. It also recommends improvement of facilities near Quakertown, and Doylestown and their permanent use guaranteed.

Shipping Facilities

Noting that dredging of the Delaware River is almost complete the plan sees commercial shipping facilities locating in Lower Bucks by 1980.

"Such facilities, if they can be supported, may well locate in Bensalem, Tullytown or on Biles Island," the plan says.

"The final decision as to whether a plan for future growth is to be followed rests with the people of Bucks County," the plan states.

Specifically, the power to implement the plan rests with the owners of over 100,000 parcels of land and a variety of official bodies at all levels of government.

"Each resident or land owner has within his power to enhance or reduce the value of his and his neighbors' land for future use," the Plan states.

"Each has a stake in the public good and each a responsibility to his neighbor, to his community, and to future generations, as well as to himself."

Industrial Unit Lauded In Accident

Bristol Township Commissioner Jack Ward last night told Eighth Ward Democratic workers that creation of the Bristol Township Industrial Development Council "is a good, concrete step forward in the effort to bring about lower taxes in the township."

Ward lauded the efforts of business and industrial leaders in taking the initiative to bring industry into the township. "This is the only way we can reduce the tax burden on township taxpayers by broadening the tax base."

He pointed out that based on population, Bristol Township is the second largest first class township in the state. "We have 67,000 residents. But we also have approximately 2,000 undeveloped acres which could be utilized by industry."

Ward, speaking at a meeting of party workers from the eighth ward's first precinct, also congratulated Mrs. Mary K. Clarke of 19 Oval Turn Lane, Oaktree Hollow, Levittown, on being reappointed Thursday night as treasurer of the Bristol Township School Board. She is also Democratic committeewoman in her precinct.

DYES FOR TEAM
LONDON (UPI) — Mike Wicks will have a rabid fan in the stands today when he takes the field for Huddersfield in the rugby league cup final.

Mrs. Wicks has dyed her hair claret and gold — the Huddersfield colors.

Police said that the accident happened at the intersection of Cobalt Cross Road when Mefford stopped to make a left turn into the cross road.

Police said that Kuklis received cuts of the lips in the accident, and Mefford's two brothers, Dwight, 19, and Norris, 24, were also injured.

Dwight has a possible fracture of the shoulder, and Norris received soft tissue injury to his right arm, according to police.

They were taken to Lower Bucks County Hospital by the Pennell - Middletown Rescue Squad.

Going In Circles

By Ben McElveen

Two Levittown Players received a surprise call yesterday from a real, honest-to-goodness Hollywood movie man.

Adolph Mall, director of the Players' current production, "The Waltz of the Toreadors," first received a buzz from Norman Pader, who had seen a story in the local papers about him and the players.

Pader, in town promoting the film, "King of Kings," had the idea of contacting some local people to air the pros and cons of Hollywood, movie making and the community theatre's school of hard knocks. Luckily, he thought of the press, too.

Mall in turn called Rusty Carnarius, star of "Toreadors," and the four of us sat down to lunch yesterday in the Buckingham Room at the Bristol Motel.

Over cocktails, and crabmeat, a free exchange of ideas was bandied about, with everything discussed from Marion Brando to "Mutiny On The Bounty."

Pader in a round about way said "King of Kings," an $8 million MGM production made in Spain, opens for a week's run at the Towne Theatre in
